

Ladies and Gentlemen-- It is now time to change the Age 60 rule regarding mandatory retirement for airline pilots at age 60. The rule was arbitrary when initiated and is certainly out of date in todays time. It makes no sense to force our most experienced pilots to retire at Age 60 when most can easily continue flying for years to come. We need to maintain experience in the cockpit.

Larry Kanaster